Freedom Summer and the Year of Celebrating Freedom Update

Ron Scott, summarized the events thus far this year, and described the ceremony to be held at 3pm, stating they speak to our values and what we believe. Dr. Scott commented:

What I want to do is take you through a quick review on how we got to today. We will end the day with a celebration of the Freedom Summer Memorial and a commemoration of the events that happened on that day. We got here through a long journey that is an ebb-and-flow that talks about Miami and talks about the nation as well. It starts in 1964 with the passage of the Civil Rights Act, and what’s important about that passage was it talked about and outlawed discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex and national origin; principles that are embedded within the Miami tradition, the Miami value system. So it starts back then, and what we’re really doing is following through with that thread.

We’ve been looking towards the Freedom Summer celebration for a couple of years now, and we asked; “How do we broaden that conversation beyond just that one event into something that’s more inclusive?” The result was that we arrived at a decision to start with a conversation and with a celebration of freedom; using the Freedom Summer Movement which spun out all of these other social movements as the starting point, but doing it in a broad based approach where we would have a conversation on campus for a year about freedom and all the dimensions in which it touches in American society.

So we started the year with a special event; we brought in Ben Jealous, President of the National NAACP. He was our first speaker. Following Ben, we hosted the President of Black Side Productions, Judy Hampton, who brought and we screened “Eyes on the Prize” Episode 6, which deals with Mississippi and events on Western College’s Oxford campus. We screened that for about a month; following that, Judy came to campus, and ran a series of seminars, workshops and discussions with students for a week. In addition, she also met with a group of students who are now working on their own documentary on Freedom Summer and the Oxford connection, which should be released in October and should go national as well. That was followed by a conversation with Bill Richardson and William Kristol, as part of our Janus Lecture series, which talked about the role of the U. S. in the world.

We then held, what I think may be the highlight of everything, because it was an alumni contribution; Wil Haygood, who had been involved in these conversations from the beginning, said, “What are you guys going to do to really push this?” We initially had planned on have a world premiere screening of the movie “The Butler”. I believe the anticipated release date was November; but we’re dealing with Hollywood; dates change, things change and the date was moved up. So what we did was, talk to Wil, who talked to the producers and we ended up having three screenings of the movie on campus. And we didn’t just do a screening… we had red carpets, search lights, popcorn … it was a wonderful event in Hall Auditorium. The three screenings were basically packed. Wil introduced the first two screenings, and interacted with students during the 10:00 p.m. final screening. It was one of those events that brought all of this together. We had planned on doing this because that event, that film, “The Butler” touches on almost the entire Civil Rights Movement. In particular, it allowed us to have an additional conversation about freedom and Freedom Summer.

Some other highlight events include; the Martin Luther King celebration in January, which we moved from an on campus event to a community event, to broaden our conversations. We held the Miami Women’s Leadership Conference, which we think will continue and become a major force on campus in terms of conversations about gender within our society. We also had another Janus Forum conversation addressing the proper role of Government in a free society, with Jonah Goldberg and Eugene Robinson. We also held workshops and programs on topics, such as, he Holocaust, and Social Justice - all tied around this central theme.

For Convocation, the students are reading a book, “Freedom Summer” and the author of the book will be here, on Western Campus, to lead the students in a conversation; so they will be in the place and have a chance to relive, rethink and perhaps recommit to the issues of freedom. There will also be a travelling poster show of large size posters of events from the Civil Rights period which will precede that particular speech. And, this afternoon, which is what I really want to talk to you about today, will be the Freedom Summer Fiftieth Anniversary Commemoration.

The commemoration will be on Western Campus at Kumler Chapel, at 3:00 p.m. today. There will be a re-dedication of the Memorial, and if you’ve seen it, the original Memorial has been refurbished, and there has been the addition of three dogwood trees which symbolize, Goodman, Chaney and Schwerner and that’s phase one. In October when you come back for the conference, there will be sculptures added to the three trees with chimes, engraved with the names of Goodman, Chaney and Schwerner, which will complete the addition.

The events this afternoon will last about an hour, and although that is relatively short, they will be intentional, and profoundly touching. There will be a number of speeches; our keynote speaker is Dr. Westmoreland, who is a historian and one of the original founders of the Cincinnati National Underground Railroad Freedom Center. He also has a connection with Miami; he was a student here for about a year before departing, so he is actually returning home, so this is an opportunity to welcome him back into the community. Then there is the Memorial; all of you know the work of Bob Keller, and one of the things that will be at the Memorial will be a mock-up of what this whole monument will look like with the chimes and the sculpture. Once again, Bob has exceeded all expectations and created something that is magnificent and we hope you will appreciate that when you see it.

The other thing that’s really important is that Freedom Summer and all of the events around Celebrating Freedom have been a team effort. It is the way this University works and what makes it great. There are many unsung people, and I can’t recognize everyone, but we have a website for Celebrating Freedom that is really the work of Debbie Mason. There is Bob Keller, who I mentioned, he is not just an architect, he’s an artist. Mary Jane Berman from the Center for American & World Cultures, has run a series of programs, and is a force behind the Freedom Summer commemoration activities.
We think and hope that you will enjoy the commemoration this afternoon. To give you an idea of the positive impact of the commemoration, I watched the news coverage this morning and they went through all of the details step-by-step, it was one of the most positive things I’ve ever seen in terms of local media talking about Miami. The events they are covering speak to our values and to all of the things we believe. One other group that I must thank is University Communications - you will get a packet with some articles from them - they have done a magnificent job in reaching out, and last week NPR ran a story, and we think they will be on campus this weekend along with other national media. But this is not about media coverage; it is about us celebrating these historic events - because of what they mean, and because of who we are.

David Sayler spoke to the group, highlighting senior ICA staff transitions, and athletic accomplishments, including academic, and graduation rate success. He also discussed student athlete community service, Title IX matters, and the ICA capital campaign.

Comments by the Chair

Board of Trustees Chair Sharon Mitchell commented:

Good morning and welcome to this meeting of Miami University's Board of Trustees. Much has occurred since our last meeting- we've enjoyed Commencement for the Class of 2014, and we've seen the start of Orientation for the class of 2018.

At the May Commencement, over 4,000 degrees were awarded, and all were inspired as Oscar-winning actor Forest Whitaker delivered the Commencement address. Mr. Whitaker related his remarks to Freedom Summer and to Miami's motto, as he spoke of the importance of joining together to bring about meaningful change.

Moving to the Class of 2018 - Following a record year for applications, we are welcoming what is projected to be our most academically gifted class ever. Over 25,000 students applied for Fall admission, a 12% increase over last year. Of the students accepting admission for the Fall, the average ACT is the highest in university history at 27.6. The incoming students are from 56 countries and 49 states. 13.6% of the students identify themselves as multicultural and 8.9% as international.

While the incoming class has an exceptional profile, our current students are equally gifted. As we heard earlier today, our student athletes excelled, earning their highest-ever average semester GPA; a 3.301 this past Spring. In the Business School, Miami's Pi Sigma Epsilon (PSE) was named the top chapter in the nation during the 2014 PSE National Convention, and their adviser, Don Norris, was named Top Adviser of the Year. Miami's PSE chapter has a long history of success, having been a finalist for the Top Gold Chapter 18 times.

In preparing our students for rewarding careers Miami has frequently been recognized, most recently with a 2014 Race to the Top Educator Preparation Program Incentive Grant (EPPI). Miami's educator preparation programs scored the highest among Ohio's public universities, and Miami was one of only two public universities in Ohio to receive the award.

I would like to return briefly to the topic of Freedom Summer. From Dr. Ron Scott we learned about some of the events surrounding our celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Freedom Summer. Later during this meeting, the Board will consider a resolution marking the anniversary of Freedom Summer. This resolution will also honor the memory of James Chaney, Andrew Goodman, and Michael Schwerner, who trained at Western College, and who gave their lives in the pursuit of other's freedom and the right to vote. We hope that all of you can join the commemoration of Freedom Summer event at Kumler Chapel this afternoon.

In the time since we last met, we marked the end of an era, as Miami mourned the passing of John Dolibois, former U.S. Ambassador to Luxembourg and the last American survivor of a team that interrogated top-ranking Nazis for the Nuremberg Trials. John was born in Luxembourg, graduated from Miami, served as a Miami vice president and as the U.S. Ambassador to Luxembourg. I encourage all to read his remarkable autobiography, Pattern of Circles, to learn more about this great man and his remarkable life.

I would like to close my remarks today with a few words of recognition and thanks to several of our departing leaders.

Sue Henry and Mike Armstrong have served the university as National Trustees, and each has made a profound and long-lasting positive impact on Miami through their exceptional leadership of our two Committees. Sue chairs the Academic and Student Affairs Committee, and Mike Chairs the Finance and Audit Committee. On behalf of the entire Board, I want to express our deepest appreciation for your outstanding leadership and your years of selfless service to Miami - Thank you.

We'll have a little more to say about Sue and Mike's accomplishments later today as we consider resolutions of appreciation.

I would also like to again recognize Provost Bobby Gempesaw, and thank him for the role he has played in helping shape Miami over the past three years. Bobby has been a creative, innovative and courageous leader – leading change as he empowered the Deans and Faculty, helped shape the Miami 2020 plan, made progress in establishing the mission and capability of the regional campuses, helped launch Winter Term, helped shape the Global Miami Plan, and helped increase Miami’s programs and national reputation. I’d like to personally wish Bobby the best as he moves to his new role as President of St. John’s University in New York City.
Reports, Ordinances and Resolutions

President’s Report

Miami University President David Hodge commented:

We are a University that is celebrating its 205th year in existence and yet we’re a university that’s marked by an incredible amount of progressive innovation that makes us stronger and stronger as we move forward, so the theme of my remarks today are about change and transitions.

One of the changes that we’ll talk about in just a few moments is the creation of a new division. A new division committed to student success; a new division that will ensure the high standards we’ve set will be met. I’m very excited about that and can’t wait to say more when we have that opportunity.

We do have some significant transitions. Transitions of individuals who have served the University so well; I join Ms. Mitchell in commending Sue Henry and Mike Armstrong’s service to the Board of Trustees and to the university as a whole. Their vision, their dedication, their hard work and their difficult questions at times, have all contributed to making Miami a much stronger place. And most importantly, when we think about innovation and progressive change they’ve contributed to that flow; so it’s not just for this moment and for this time, it’s also about building foundations that will allow us to continue to be successful into the future, and I thank you for that.

I also join Sharon in congratulating Bobby for his new position and to say thank you for all that he’s done to make Miami a stronger university. When Bobby and I were having conversations about whether or not he might come to Miami, we had a very important phone call. I’ll never forget that, because at the heart of the phone call, he said, “You really want a partner, don’t you?” and I said “Yes I do”! And Bobby has been everything that I could have hoped for in a partner and more. As the list of impressive accomplishments that you’ve identified attest, he’s been an innovator in ways that have really strengthened the university. But as with our departing Trustees, I think the most important legacy is the frame he has left for where we go forward. Bobby was instrumental in helping to move forward with the Miami 2020 plan, and it’s a frame that I think is going to serve us extremely well. So I’m going to miss you deeply Bobby, as a partner, as a friend and most certainly as a colleague… it’s just been great!

We’ve had the transition of Carine Feyten which we identified earlier, as she goes on to be President and Chancellor at Texas Women’s University. It’s a great testament to the University that we can attract such high quality people as our senior leaders. And while they are here, they not only use all of their intelligence and experience, but also that passion for what Miami is all about which is that extra special ingredient that makes their contributions to the University so enduring over the long run. So while this may represent change and transition it also represents most importantly, contributions to our ongoing efforts to be the very best undergraduate experience in the country.
There are other transitions that occur on an annual basis and one of the beautiful things about being at a university is that we get to enjoy this renewal every year. We had a wonderful graduation ceremony. I think Forest Whitaker’s remarks… I don’t know how they could have been any better.

Forest Whitaker is just an incredible human being. So often when we have commencement speakers like this, you know they are happy to come and do their thing, but, boy as soon as it’s over they’re ready to hit the road and get going. They lead very busy lives and we certainly understand that. But he changed his plans and stayed overnight, partly I think, because Wil was here and they’d gotten to know each other. But he had asked us earlier in the day, he said “Well, gosh after the ceremony, can I get to see some of campus?” And so Valerie and I loaded the two of them in the golf cart, and away we went tearing across campus. Well, I shouldn’t say “tearing across campus” because we’d make a little start and then somebody would recognize Forest and we’d have to stop take photos, and move on. He loved the Armstrong Student Center and he took pictures of everything, everywhere and he loved the three dimensional seal. The highlight for us, as you might expect was the time we spent when we took him over to the Memorial on Western Campus. The whole impetus for having him here was part of this frame that Ron Scott had described earlier, where we started with Wil Haygood, the movie “The Butler”, the Celebration for Freedom for this year and so this was part of that flow, and it really was a magnificent experience for us on a personal level.

Another highlight though, I think, of commencement was the ceremony that was held in the morning over on the Middletown campus. We had over a thousand people attend to celebrate this. You know, when we think about the regional campuses and their evolving roles, one of the things that we really need to emphasize and hold dear is what this means to the community. It’s not only about the students, although they are certainly the focal point, but the sense of community pride that took place that morning I think was an extraordinary thing. I thank Dean Mike Pratt and his staff for arranging that experience for those people; it was really, really very special.

Also, as we bid farewell to one group of people, we greet another group; and as we’ve said, we’ve have our most academically accomplished class ever coming in. There are a lot of reasons for this, not the least of which is all the tremendous work that Michael Kabbaz and his division has done to create a strong pool of applicants. But also something that’s really been happening is we’ve thought more and more about the academic changes we need to make; the advances we need to make in order to attract students who want to do things, and so the Academic Scholars Program is proving to be an innovation of singular importance to the recruiting of top students who have that fire in their belly; they’re here, because, that’s an opportunity they want. It is more than going to classes, it’s about engaging in a community of people that are really fired up about what we do.

And then on the other extreme, last night we had the dinner for the 50th reunion. This is the first event of alumni weekend each year and it’s certainly one of our favorites. We had nearly 300 individuals at this event most of whom were alums or their spouses or partners, and it was just a wonderful, wonderful activity, and what we do at the end of the evening is I put on the academic robes and give them a ribbon with a nice medallion with the seal on it, for them to wear. So when you look around the campus today, you’ll be seeing people with medallions walking around, and those are the 50 year folks. They have a tradition at this dinner which is called “Along Slant Walk” where they reminisce a little bit about 50 years ago. Some of it is extremely funny. There were a lot of comments about professors who had made such a positive difference in their lives, and the one thing they talked about, which we always emphasize, is passion. They said they learned a lot, but it was really the passion they had for the students and for their subject that made all the difference.

We had some moving moments. One individual, who suffers from a very debilitating disease and is in a wheelchair and unable to feed himself had come last year at his 49th anniversary because he wasn’t sure if he was going to live long enough to make it. Well, he did and he was back, and it was great, great to see him there! And then one of the other moments that was really special, was talking to Dave Lawrence, one of the attendees. He was one of nine graduates from ROTC that went to Pensacola to become pilots in the Navy; only 4 of them lived through the Vietnam War. So you realize the consequences of what we launch here and the people and the wonderful things that they do. So when we think about transitions, the whole point is that there are individuals that will continue to be changed. But if we do our job right, this is what we will see fifty years later… people whose lives have really made a difference; people’s whose lives represent Miami so well.

This afternoon, we are going to commemorate Freedom Summer. Fifty years ago, to this day, three young men went south and very shortly, people recognized they went missing and 44 days later, their bodies were found, having been murdered. As we hold this commemoration, I’d like to emphasize two points. The first is, while Miami is embracing this, these events came out of the Western College for Women. The Western College for Women was an extraordinary, extraordinary place; so far ahead of the rest of the world in progressive thinking. Whether it was about international education or diversity, they were just way ahead of us! Western College for Women is where it happened and it’s a marvelous, marvelous thing. The second point I want to make is that while we’re holding this commemoration to honor those who came before us and to learn from what they have done; is that this was only a part of a broader and much bigger Civil Rights Movement. So I hope today when we think about this, we not only think about those individuals and that particular time; but we think about the entire flow of activities around civil rights. The number of people who were harmed, who were murdered, extends from children through adults for years and years and years, but it was the persistence of the people who believed in something bigger than themselves that made all the difference in the world. So this afternoon when we commemorate the 50th anniversary of Freedom Summer we’re really commemorating all the efforts that went into making this a more just, a more free society.

Report of the Chair of University Senate Executive Committee

Dr. Steve Wyatt, Chair of the University Executive senate reported the following:

Greetings from the Senate! The reality is that at the last meeting I gave you the last report from the Senate because the Senate actually hasn’t met yet. We had a few items that did get passed and that was included in the report. But in general, what we do during the summer is relatively simple. The Executive Committee, which basically means me and a couple of other people, are putting together the committees that will meet for next year.

What I would like to do at this time is introduce you to the incoming chair for next year, Dr. Bryan Marshall. He’s a terrific guy, he’s worked with us last year as the incoming chair, and he’ll be taking over as of July 1.

Finally, I have one other small announcement to make and that is, officially, as of yesterday, I’ve tendered my intent to retire and to resign my position as of the end of this coming academic year. I just thought I would let you know I will be leaving, probably exactly one year from now, so this will be my last year. Thank you.

President Hodge responded to Dr. Wyatt’s announcement of his retirement, commenting:

I have to say just two things. Steve Wyatt has had an enormous impact on this university. First of all, he’s taken a department in the Farmer School of Business, the Department of Finance, and over his tenure has seen it soar in terms of reputation, quality of interest, and of placement. So that in itself is an enormous achievement. And as you may all also recall, he was the co-chair of the Strategic Priorities Task Force. Of all the things that we’ve done over the last few years, I don’t know that there’s anything that’s been more significant than the Strategic Priorities Task Force, in helping us not only get through a really rough patch, but come out of it firing on all cylinders! What a tremendous legacy, Steve! Thank you.

Report of the President, Associated Student Government

Mr. Cole Tyman, President, Associated Student Government, reported the following:

Ladies and Gentleman it is an honor to have the chance to speak before you today. To give you a brief background of myself, I am a rising senior double majoring in Marketing & Individualized Studies with the Western Program. I have served in Associated Student Government throughout my Miami career, first as a senator for Havighurst Hall, and then the next two years as secretary for on-campus affairs. Additionally I am a member of Pi Sigma Epsilon Business Fraternity, and I have served as a member of the Armstrong Student Center Board, a resident assistant and a tour guide.

The next year in Associated Student Government has already started off very well. We have a very diverse cabinet, which includes seven women of the thirteen members. Additionally five of the students are sophomores, which is a great sign that we are looking toward the future to ensure we have forward thinking approaches to our advocacy. Additionally for the first time in many years, the cabinet consists of an international student and a commuter student.

Beyond our people are our pursuits. ASG is looking forward toward a productive year of advocacy on campus. We have not yet had our annual cabinet retreat to lay out all of our goals for the upcoming year but I can inform you of some specific things we know we will be working on.

First is academics, specifically in the area of academic advising. Many parties on campus have indicated the importance of reform in this area, and we want to ensure undergraduate students are a part of the conversation in order to create the best possible system for every student.

Second is ensuring that our auxiliary services best serve students. In my past role as secretary for on-campus affairs I worked closely with housing, dining, and parking & transportation. Specifically within the realm of parking, we want to ensure parking options best serve not only students but all stakeholders.

Finally, we intend to improve community relations especially when it comes to relationships between students and landlords. We see a lot of potential problems arising from students signing leases in February or March of their first year for a house they will not move into until August of their third year. Students can be prohibited from serving as resident’s assistants or studying abroad by committing to leases so early.

For my last point of business I wanted to recognize our two departing trustees. Mr. Armstrong and Ms. Henry’s impact have certainly gone beyond their service on the Board of Trustees and have been certainly noticed by students. Be it the Armstrong Interactive Media Studies Program, the Armstrong Student Center, the Student Activities Suite, or the Pre-law program, your commitment to the university has greatly benefited our students. That is why it is my pleasure to present these Executive Orders, Thanking C. Michael Armstrong and Sue J. Henry for their steadfast dedication to Miami University’s Student Body.

Academic and Student Affairs Committee

Report of the Committee Chair

Committee Chair Sue Henry reported the following:

The Academic and Student Affairs Committee of the Miami University Board of Trustees met on June 19, 2014. The meeting was called to order by committee chair Sue Henry.

UNIVERSITY SENATE

Professor Steve Wyatt introduced Professor Bryan Marshall who will chair of the Executive Session of University Senate in the upcoming year. The committee thanked Professor Wyatt for his service to the committee.

RESOLUTION FOR A NEW DIVISION

The committee unanimously recommended approval of a resolution creating the new Division of Enrollment Management and Student Success and the position of Vice President for that new division.

PROVOST REPORT

The Committee thanked the Provost for all of his hard work and service to the University and the committee, and wished him the very best in his new position.

RETENTION – SPTF 36

Associate Vice President Michael Kabbaz and Associate Provost Carolyn Haynes reported on the future of retention efforts with the creation of the new Division of Enrollment Management and Student Success. There will be a newly formed University Retention Committee, chaired by EMSS, that will coordinate the various university committees impacting retention and student success. EMSS also will create a proactive central student success office and a physical office consolidating the person-to-person services of the bursar, registrar, and financial aid.

EMSS will oversee several new student success initiatives. The highlights of these are:

1. Piloting 12 sections of a new first year experience course in fall 2014,
2. Comprehensive advisor training for all staff and faculty advisors,
3. Piloting the Student Success Collaborative that generates a risk assessment for each Miami student, provides dashboards for advisors and identifies best practices in college completion,
4. Adoption of the U.Direct online advising system in fall 2014. “U.Direct” will provide data for advance course scheduling and enable students to create course roadmaps to graduation and career development and,
5. Creation of small working groups to assist students needing greater academic or social support.

ENROLLMENT MANAGEMENT

Associate Vice President Michael Kabbaz also provided an updated enrollment management report noting that, as of June 17, we have 3,753 confirmed new students for fall 2014. Of those, 43.9% are non-residents. All of our key quality indicators have increased, with the exception of diversity. We have enrolled 388 students in the Honors program, 192 in the University Scholars program, 223 in the ACE program and 46 in the TOP program; thereby virtually meeting or exceeding our goals in each program.

Mr. Kabbaz also reported that, at $27,181, Miami’s average graduate’s debt has decreased 2.3% from the prior year. Over the past five years, it has increased only a total of 2.3% which is the lowest increase in the state of Ohio. Also, Miami’s average debt is below both the national and state average debts. Fifty-four percent of Miami’s students graduated with debt.

Vice President of Student Affairs Jayne Brownell updated the committee on her first four months at Miami. She discussed strengths and challenges noting that the Office of Student Affairs is facing several problematic issues, needs a common set of goals and is overstretched. Her goals for the future include reorganizing her division, creating a comprehensive framework for reducing high risk alcohol use, addressing violence against women and reviewing and revising existing major programs.

GREEK AFFAIRS

Will Atkins, Associate Director of the Cliff Alexander Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life and Leadership, reported on Greek recruitment for spring 2014 indicating that 34% of Miami’s undergraduates are members of a fraternity or sorority. He also discussed the first year implementation of the Greek Community Advancement Program.

Mr. Atkins reviewed the social accountability of the Greeks over the past year. Of the IFC and PHA registered social events, the number of non-alcohol social events exceeded that of alcohol social events usually by quite a margin. During the 2013-14 academic year, there were 34 reported incidents involving 22 Greek chapters. Of these, three cases were dismissed because of a lack of evidence. Twenty-six others were resolved by the IFC, PHC or OESCR. Seven were referred to the national organization. The Cliff Alexander Office is instrumental in educating new members of Greek organizations and is emphasizing the overall theme of “Love and Honor Miami” and reporting inappropriate conduct.

STUDENT WELLNESS INITIATIVES

Vice President Brownell reviewed with the committee current efforts to address the high risk drinking behavior of our students. We discussed the weaknesses of our approaches and the challenges we encounter on the university level. Dr. Brownell also pointed out challenges we face in gaining cooperation from the community to solve this problem. She explained that her next steps are to employ a consultant to do an “environmental” scan in the fall and formulate a working group to act on the consultant’s recommendations. The overarching strategy will be to collaborate across the campus for a comprehensive, planned approach to high risk alcohol use, create a stronger sense of community for the non-drinking students and promote a “safe and smart” message.

CAREER SERVICES

Michael Goldman, Director of Career Services, discussed growing job markets and how Miami students can fill those jobs by utilizing skills acquired from a liberal education. In November 2013, Miami reported results from its first six month post-graduation survey for all 2012 and 2013 graduates. There was an 80% response rate. Of the respondents, 91.1% were either employed or in graduate or professional school. Sixty-nine percent were employed full time in their field of study. Nineteen percent were enrolled in graduate or professional school. This will become an annual survey.

Director Goldman also discussed the new Career Community Strategy focused on student development, institution–wide engagement in career exploration, improved compilation of data including a monthly career services scorecard and a redesigned website, accountability and nurturing partnerships outside the university to expand career opportunities.

Finance and Audit Committee

Report of the Committee Chair

Committee Chair Mike Armstrong reported the following:

The Finance and Audit Committee met yesterday at the Marcum Conference Center. The Committee considered three ordinances and four resolutions at the meeting. All seven action items were endorsed by the Committee and are recommended for approval by the Board of Trustees later in this meeting.

Much of yesterday’s meeting was devoted to planning for next year. The Committee reviewed the proposed fiscal year 2015 budget plan including a 2% increase in tuition that will go into effect this fall if approved. While increases in tuition are always a difficult decision for the Trustees, the proposed budget also includes an increase in undergraduate scholarships that actually exceeds the growth in undergraduate tuition revenue from the tuition increase. This additional investment in student scholarships reflects the administration and the Finance and Audit Committee’s concern for affordability even as the price of tuition is once again rising.

As I have reported throughout this year, the Committee uses the University’s long-term financial plan as one of its tools for making decisions that align with the Board’s goals of an affordable and high quality educational experience for Miami students. Even before the Ohio General Assembly legislated a two percent fee cap last year, our long-term budget plan called for the University to hold tuition increases to no more than 2% not just this year but into the future. Because of our advance planning and the successful execution of this plan by our faculty and the administration, we are in a position to also invest through next year’s budget in areas that will better serve our students. The largest of these investments as I mentioned earlier will be for student scholarships but there also will be other investments that align with our goal of providing a high quality educational experience. There are funds for improving the compensation for our faculty and staff that will better enable us to attract and retain talented and dedicated employees who deliver such an exceptional educational experience for our students; there also is significant new funding for student advising and the implementation of the one-stop enrollment center that was discussed in the Academic and Student Affairs Committee yesterday. And there is a second round of new investments in our network that will better ensure that our students have sufficient access to today's technology.

Again, the proposed budget reflects our concern for affordability but also our expectations about the quality of the experience our students will have and how well they are prepared to succeed following their time at Miami. Accomplishing all of this in today’s financially constrained environment has been challenging, but the Finance and Audit Committee has and will continue to be committed to working with the administration and our faculty to ensure our students receive an affordable and high quality educational experience.

While the primary focus of yesterday’s discussion was on the budget and the tuition increase, the Committee also devoted substantial time to discussing the parking proposal that will go into effect in July 2015. Parking is one of those issues where there are competing priorities that the administration and the Committee must try to balance. With so many significant needs at the University, it would be foolish to spend tens of millions of dollars constructing additional parking garages to address the demand for convenient parking on campus, but the Committee also recognizes that the changes associated with the proposed ordinance add to the cost of attending Miami and to the cost of our faculty and staff who are critical to the success of the University. Through expanded public transportation and new concepts like the “free” carpool pass for employees, the administration and the Committee are attempting to strike the right balance associated with these competing priorities. Again, this ordinance is being recommended for approval later in the meeting.

The remaining construction and spending resolutions are either routine or have been extensively discussed at previous meetings and are also recommended for approval.

Sadly, this is my last Committee report and my last meeting as a national trustee. This has been a wonderful experience for me, and I am extremely proud of what we have accomplished during my time on the Board of Trustees. While there is much more to be accomplished, I am confident in the planning that is being done and the ability of this Board to lead Miami University to an even brighter future. I look forward to receiving future reports on your progress.

Ordinances and Resolutions

2014-2015 Tuition and Fees

Dr. Creamer spoke to the first three Ordinances (Undergraduate tuition, Graduate tuition and the FY2015 Budget). He stated a goal at Miami is to bring the tuition increases to the Board at the same meeting as the FY budget, which allows review of the impact of the budget and spending on tuition cost. Dr. Creamer also informed the Board that this year marks the conclusion of implementing the Strategic Priorities Task Force recommendations, and this budget would not have been possible without all of the SPTF’s productivity gains and new revenue. The SPTF recommendations and process have moved Miami beyond being reactive to becoming forward looking.

Chair Mitchell then expressed her appreciation or all the work done by SPTF Committee and the importance of controlling the cost of tuition

Ordinance O2014-6
Parking

Dr. Creamer explained that the increase will not go into effect for another year to better allow planning. It is understood that the increase in cost will not be welcomed, but parking is a difficult issue to manage, and it has now been about six years since the Sustainability Committee first recommended the University move in this direction. Continuing to subsidize parking requires tradeoffs, and it would not be appropriate for Miami to allow parking demand to continue to expand, creating the need for additional garages, at the expenses of other, alternate uses. This Ordinance will help impact behavior and slow parking demand.

Mr. Bhati then moved, Mr. Ridenour seconded and by roll call vote Ordinance O2014-6, Parking, was unanimously adopted with eight Trustees voting in favor and none opposed.

APPROPRIATION ORDINANCE O2014-6
Parking Ordinance

WHEREAS, parking facilities on university campuses in Ohio were established in the 1960s as self-supporting operations and managed as an auxiliary enterprise; and

WHEREAS, prior to 2006 student permits and fine revenue were the exclusive source of revenue for the parking auxiliary at Miami University; and

WHEREAS, in 2007 a $20 employee fee was implemented and increased to $30 in 2008 even though there was significant employee objection to the fee; and

WHEREAS, increasing demand for parking on the Oxford Campus led to the construction of two parking garages on campus; and

WHEREAS, the revenue from these garages was not sufficient to sustain the parking operation, leading to an annual subsidy from the Education and General budget for the parking auxiliary of $500,000; and

WHEREAS, in 2008 a Presidential Task Force on Environmental Sustainability issued a report which included a recommendation that the University adopt a “demand management” approach to the Parking Auxiliary to help reduce vehicular congestion and lower the significant carbon dioxide emissions generated daily by employees and students; and

WHEREAS, demand for parking continues to increase creating vehicular congestion and emissions and more demand for the spaces than are available during peak periods; and

WHEREAS, in the summer of 2013, the University entered into an agreement with the Butler County Regional Transit Authority (BCRTA) to better enable the University to adopt a parking and commuting philosophy more closely aligned with a “demand management” approach; and
WHEREAS, to avoid the construction of additional parking garages on campus at a cost of about $20,000 per space, consuming university resources better directed to other university priorities, the Vice President for Finance and Business Services advanced a plan to the university community that would raise the cost of permits for both employees and students; and

WHEREAS, to lessen the financial impact for employees and reduce the demand for parking on the Oxford Campus, the parking proposal includes a recommendation for the creation of two carpool permits that would make it possible for a carpool of three or more employees to park at no cost on campus and a carpool of two or more employees to park at today’s permit price; and

WHEREAS, significant employee and student input was gathered regarding this proposal and adjustments made where appropriate;

THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED: that the Board of Trustees adopts the increase in the price of parking permits on campus with the initial increase to be effective July 2015 and the second increase to be effective July 2016; and

BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED: that the Board of Trustees establishes two new carpool permits to be available to employees beginning in July 2015.

Resolutions

Engine Controls

Dr. Creamer spoke in support of the resolution, explaining that it provides back up power when normal power is lost, better enabling us able to care for students. The engine also allows Miami to supplement power during peaks, and to sell power back to Duke Energy.

Mr. Ridenour then moved, Mr. Budig seconded, and by voice vote the resolution was unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTION R2014-51
Wartsila Peaking Engines Controls Upgrade

WHEREAS, the Wartsila Peaking Engines Controls Upgrade project involves replacement of obsolete equipment and related maintenance needs; and

WHEREAS, the administration has identified local funds in the amount of $1,500,000 for the Wartsila Peaking Engines Controls Upgrade project; and

WHEREAS, the $1,500,000 budget includes a cost of work estimate of approximately $1,236,000; and

WHEREAS, the State of Ohio permits contracts to be awarded up to 110% of the construction estimate necessitating a bid variation contingency, in addition to contingency funds for third party electric support on the project totaling no more than $217,000 against a $1,236,000 construction budget; and

WHEREAS, the receipt of bids is planned for September 2014; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees desires to award a contract to the most responsive and responsible Single Prime Contractor;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: that the Board of Trustees authorizes the Vice President for Finance and Business Services and Treasurer, in accordance with all State guidelines, to proceed with the award of contract for the Wartsila Peaking Engines Control Upgrade project for a project budget not to exceed $1,500,000.
Executive Summary for the Wartsila Peaking Engines Controls Upgrade
June 19, 2014

This project is for the maintenance and replacement of obsolete equipment that will no longer be supported after 2015. The current control, operating, and monitoring system of the Wartsila Peaking Engines (electric generators) will be replaced with a more current software and hardware package. During this change out, several periods of typical planned maintenance will also be accomplished to minimize total downtime on the engines. The Wartsila proposal is a full “turn-key” service whose fee includes the Design and Administration with the Cost of Work.

Funding for this project will be local funds:

Talawanda High School

Dr. Creamer spoke in support of the resolution, explaining that Miami and the Talawanda School District have concluded the process of Miami’s acquiring the property. The site provides many opportunities for Miami, but the age and state of the present structures require their removal.

Mr. Wilson then moved, Mr. Ridenour seconded, and by voice vote the resolution was unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTION R2014-52
Former Talawanda High School Site

WHEREAS, the Old Talawanda High School Demolition and Site Work project involves razing the aged facility and some support structures and constructing a new off-campus parking option; and

WHEREAS, the administration has identified local funds in the amount of $2,400,000 for the Old Talawanda High School Demolition and Site Work project; and

WHEREAS, the $2,400,000 budget includes a cost of work estimate of approximately $2,000,000; and
WHEREAS, the State of Ohio permits contracts to be awarded up to 110% of the construction estimate necessitating a bid variation contingency of $200,000 in addition to the $2,000,000 construction budget; and

WHEREAS, the receipt of bids is planned for June 2014; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees desires to award a contract to the most responsive and responsible Single Prime Contractor;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: that the Board of Trustees authorizes the Vice President for Finance and Business Services and Treasurer, in accordance with all State guidelines, to proceed with the award of contract for the Old Talawanda High School Demolition and Site Work project for a project budget not to exceed $2,400,000.

Executive Summary for the Old Talawanda High School Demolition and Site Work June 19, 2014

This project will abate and raze the former Talawanda High School along with several out buildings. The bleachers and fencing on the adjacent athletic fields will also be removed. The existing athletic fields and an existing Field House will remain and eventually will be used for club sports and other activities. Once the building is removed, new work includes re-grading the northwest corner of the site and installing a new off-campus parking lot. Utilities will be reconnected to structures to remain on site. When the project is complete, it will provide well over 400 additional parking spaces with LED lighting.

On the main campus, roughly 400 existing parking spaces have been removed with recent construction activity. The new off-campus parking offsets the lost spaces and takes steps toward implementing recommendations in the campus circulation master plan. Many of the removed spaces existed as smaller lots and were scattered around the campus. Most were at the end of their useful life and would have been costly to repair/replace in their existing locations. The opportunity to develop the off-campus parking is a cost effective solution to manage the parking demand and on-going maintenance/operational expenses.

Funding for this project will be local funds:

Local Administration Competency Certification

Dr. Creamer spoke in support of the resolution, explaining that this is required in order to locally manage state awarded capital construction funds. This certification is required each biennium.

Mr. Crain then moved, Mr. Ridenour seconded, and by voice vote the resolution was unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTION R2014-53
Local Administration Competency Certification Program

WHEREAS, the 130th Ohio General Assembly enacted H.B. 497 which appropriates $22,400,000 to Miami University for capital improvement projects for the 2015-16 biennium; and

WHEREAS, the Local Administration Competency Certification Program allows institutions of higher education to administer state-funded capital facilities projects pursuant to section 3345.51 of the Revised Code without the supervision, control, or approval of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services; and

WHEREAS, the Miami University maintains its desire to participate in the Local Administration Competency Certification Program, and administer its own capital facilities projects;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: that the Board of Trustees authorizes the University to participate in the Local Administration Certification Program; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: that the appropriate University officials are directed to take all necessary steps to accomplish that purpose, including, without limitation, giving written notice to the Ohio Board of Regents pursuant to R.C. 3345.51 (A) (2) of the Board’s request to administer a capital facilities project within sixty days after the effective date of the section of an act in which the General Assembly initially makes an appropriation for the project; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: that pursuant to the requirement set forth in R.C. 3345.51(A) (3), the University intends to comply with section 153.13 of the Revised Code, policy and procedure guidelines for contract documents established pursuant to section 153.16 of the Revised Code, and all laws that govern the selection of consultants, preparation and approval of contract documents, receipt of bids, and award of contracts with respect to the applicable project; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: that pursuant to the requirement set forth in R.C. 123.17 (D)(6), the University agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the State and the Ohio Department of Administrative Services for any claim of injury, loss, or damage that results from the University’s administration of a capital facilities project pursuant to the Local Administration Certification Program; and

Endowment Distribution Formula

Dr. Creamer explained that this is a routine item to address underwater accounts and the appropriate annual distribution of any interest or earnings from such accounts.

Mr. Ridenour then moved, Mr. Shroder seconded, and by voice vote the resolution was unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTION R2014-54
Spending Distribution Formula

WHEREAS, Miami University receives and manages contributions of cash, securities, life insurance, personal property, and real estate in its endowment; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees desires to continue the policy of supporting University operations and scholarships through the distribution of income and realized gains from the endowment; and

WHEREAS, Miami University Resolution 2004-46 established a Spending Policy effective for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2004, and authorized such Policy to remain in effect until formally modified by the Board of Trustees; and

WHEREAS, Miami University Resolution 2010-4 established an amended Spending Policy effective with the fiscal year ending June 30, 2010, and authorized such Policy to remain in effect until formally modified by the Board of Trustees; and

WHEREAS, Miami University Resolution 2010-4 also directed the Vice President for Finance and Business Services annually to evaluate the variables underlying the spending formula and to present recommendations as to the spending formula to be used for the fiscal year; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Miami University Resolution R2014-16, the Spending Formula was adopted, without modification, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2014; and

WHEREAS, the University has opted to amend the Spending Policy for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2014 as it did for the previous fiscal year, in order to determine how distributions will be made from certain funds whose market value remains below its gift value; and
WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees, has considered the proposed Spending Policy, with the care that an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would exercise under similar circumstances, considering the following factors:

1. The duration and preservation of the endowment fund;
2. The purposes of the institution and the endowment fund;
3. General economic conditions;
4. The possible effect of inflation or deflation;
5. The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments;
6. Other resources of the institution;
7. The investment policy of the institution;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT: The Board of Trustees hereby authorizes that the spending distribution for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2014, be computed according to the following formula:

The weighted average spending formula is to be comprised of two elements: a market element, given a 30% weight in the formula, and an inflation element, given a 70% weight in the formula. The market element is to be computed by multiplying the market value of the investment portfolio on March 31, 2014 by a long-term sustainable spending percentage of 4.5%. The inflation element is to be computed by increasing the prior year's actual spending distribution by the annualized increase in the Consumer Price Index as of March 31, 2014.

If, however, the June 30, 2014 market value of an individual endowment fund account is below the cumulative value of all gifts contributed into that account, then only the pro rata share of realized dividends and interest allocated to that account may be distributed instead of the amount determined by the spending calculation.

Creation of the Division of Enrollment Management and Student Support

President Hodge commented:

As we mentioned earlier, one of the highlight accomplishments this year was the creation Miami 2020. I see Dean Phyllis Callahan is back there, I want to make sure we acknowledge her contributions and Jim Kiper’s in leading this effort. At the heart of this are two really important statements. The first is the vision statement: “To provide the best undergraduate experience in the nation enhanced by superior, select graduate programs”. It’s simple, it’s concise, and it’s powerful. Equally powerful is the unifying goal that emerged from all the hard work the committee did in establishing the 2020 plan; the unifying goal is: “To promote a vibrant learning and discovery environment that produces extraordinary student and scholarly outcomes”. That is our goal, to produce extraordinary student and scholarly outcomes.

We believe that elevating these activities into a new division will provide the foundation upon which we can do that well. There are three advantages that I see in doing this. The first is it brings together, under one umbrella, closely related units that provide the supporting infrastructure to assist students throughout the student lifecycle. This will yield economic efficiencies, more effective student services and enhanced ability for cross-unit innovation. The second benefit of this new division is that it will provide clear lines of responsibility regarding some of our most important goals. One of the most notable examples of this is the responsibility for increasing retention and graduation rates. While this requires partnerships across the university, the responsibility for leading this will clearly lie with this division. And third, it will provide greatly enhanced institutional ability to cross boundaries that affect student success. This is very important. While we may be consolidating some of these activities into a division the true benefits that we will gain from this division are the fact that it will set up partnerships across the university so that we can better address the complexities that are necessary to improve student success.

Mr. Bhati then moved, Mr. Budig seconded, and by voice vote the resolution was unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTION R2014-55
Division of Enrollment Management and Student Success

WHEREAS, Miami University provides one of the best undergraduate experiences in the nation, enhanced by superior, select graduate programs; and

WHEREAS, Miami’s historical emphasis on undergraduate education includes a focused commitment to student recruitment, retention, and graduation; and

WHEREAS, Miami must select and guide its students in an increasingly complex environment in which the elements of student success are highly connected to each other; it is imperative that Miami is organized to coordinate these various components of student success.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: that the Division of Enrollment Management and Student Success is hereby created, and the position of Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Success is established to lead the Division; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: that the Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Success shall be an Administrative Officer of the University, and shall have the responsibility for enrollment management, including admission, financial aid, the bursar, and the registrar, and other areas as assigned by the President. The Division will also have the responsibility for coordination of retention and student success initiatives.
Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Success

President Hodge commented:

We are very fortunate to have terrific senior leadership at this university and Michael Kabbaz is certainly somebody that adds to that in enormous ways. He comes with tremendous experience before his Miami tenure, part of which did include earlier time at Miami, the College Board and the University of Richmond, where he was able to expand his expertise; expertise that he’s brought to us. We have known him as the architect of a complete remodeling, or that’s too small a word; a complete restructuring, a transformative restructuring, of what our approach to enrollment management is all about. And we have seen him exercise tremendous breadth across the university; connecting to the various units in ways that will make this division a great success. I look very much forward to having him as part of the senior leadership team of Miami University.

Mr. Ridenour then moved, Mr. Budig seconded, and by voice vote the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Success

BE IT RESOLVED: that the Board of Trustees, upon the recommendation of the President, hereby elects Michael Kabbaz as Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Success, to become effective July 1, 2014.

BOT Report June 2014

To be read for the public Miami University BOT session:

My fellow trustees and guests, I apologize for my absence this week and at the May retreat. I was participating in a social entrepreneurship study abroad course with the Institute for Entrepreneurship in the Dominican Republic and this week I began my summer internship working at a tech startup in Columbus.

I was excited to recently read about the new Electronics and Computing Service Scholars Living Learning Community, which will begin in the fall of 2015. This program aims to increase the number of women choosing a career in the STEM field. The participants in this LLC will join their computer, math and engineering coursework with relevant opportunities to participate in projects that benefit the local community. The new LLC is supported by grant funding from the National Science Foundation. I believe Miami University students have so much to offer beyond the classroom and service-based coursework provides a method to both learn and serve others.

After watching the Miami Women in Leadership Conference this past February, a group of Miami students, both men and women, including myself are working on hosting a local TEDx conference. Miami students will schedule to speak for a limited amount of time and present their “ideas worth sharing” as the conference slogan indicates. We are eager to promote the spread of knowledge in this format and are excited to seek a formal opportunity outside of the classroom to showcase our peer’s vast experiences and intelligence. I will keep you informed on updates as this idea moves forward.

I am immensely grateful for my first year on the Board of Trustees. I hope everyone enjoys their summer and please feel free to connect with me via email as the summer progresses. Thank you and see you in September.
