Richardson, Kristol to speak at JANUS forum

Miami University's second JANUS Forum will feature former New Mexico Gov. Bill Richardson, also a former U.N. ambassador and presidential candidate, and Fox News panelist William Kristol, founder and editor of The Weekly Standard.

The pair will talk about "The Role of the United States in the World" at 6 p.m. Oct. 30, in Hall Auditorium.

The talk is free and open to the public, though tickets are required.

"The JANUS Forum demonstrates how Miami welcomes and embraces different points of view," said Courtney Bernard, a senior journalism and strategic communication major who will serve as the event's moderator. "I'm thrilled to help guide a public discussion that will challenge our ideas and possibly alter our ways of thinking."

The first JANUS Forum held earlier this year featured Ari Fleischer, former White House press secretary for President George W. Bush, and political columnist Ezra Klein.

Tickets are available at Miami's Shriver Center box office, which can be contacted at 513-529-3200. More information is available online at miamioh.edu/janus.
