Code of Love & Honor

I am Miami. I believe that a liberal education is grounded in qualities of character and intellect. I stand for honesty, integrity, and the importance of moral conduct. I respect the dignity, rights, and property of others and their right to hold and express disparate beliefs. I defend the freedom of inquiry that is the heart of learning. I exercise good judgment and bear personal responsibility. I welcome a diversity of people, ideas, and experiences.

I embrace the spirit, academic rigor, opportunities, and challenges of a Miami Experience, preparing me to make the world a better place. I demonstrate Love and Honor by supporting and caring for my fellow Miamians. And because I am Miami, I act through my words and deeds in ways that reflect these values and beliefs. With a deep accomplishment and gratitude, I will honor, and make proud those who help the joy and privilege of saying, "this is such a place, such a life."

The general principle of the government of the institution is that every young [person] who wishes to become a scholar expects to be useful as a member of a free community must in early period of life acquire the power of self-government.
