March 2022

What We Are Doing This Month

We are forming our teams to prepare for our Moon Shot Convening on April 5th, 2022! The Convening is open to all campus stakeholders and if you would like to be involved on any of the best practice teams, please reach out to your campus Program Owners or listed team leaders.

What Happened Last Month

Last month we held a best practice leadership institute with those who were appointed to oversee the Tier 1 Best practices team. Team leaders received an overview of the best practices and strategies for execution and a project management template to outline key steps in executing each practice. Team leaders also received an inclusive leadership self assessment to help leaders identify stakeholders across campus who can provide unique perspectives to closing equity gaps across the campus.

Feedback from the leadership institute inspired the following:

1. In an effort to be more inclusive and better engage stakeholders we are conducting a call for participation for anyone who would like to engage in any of the best practice teams. This is an opportunity for professional development if you would like to sharpen your expertise as well as an opportunity for elevated consultation if you already serve as an expert.
2. Faculty are encouraged to serve on best practice teams to provide expertise on the student experience.
