

Miami University Department of Nursing
FERPA and Social Security Information Release

The Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records, both financial and academic. For the student's protection, FERPA limits release of student record information without the student's explicit written consent; however, it also gives the student's parent(s)/guardian(s) the right to review their records if the parent(s)/guardian(s) claim the student as a dependent on their Federal Income Tax Return.

I (insert name) do hereby give my consent for Miami University and the Department of Nursing to release information from my education records, including but not limited to information regarding my: general health and immunization status, certifications, insurance coverage, and criminal background checks to clinical agencies where I am assigned for clinical course work.

Additionally, I do hereby give my consent for the Department of Nursing to release my: name, Banner and/or social security number, date of birth, and citizenship/student visa status as needed to clinical agencies where I am assigned for the purpose of gaining access to electronic databases required in the process of providing patient care.

Additionally, I do hereby give my consent for the Department of Nursing to release my: name, social security number, date of birth, and educational program completion information (including graduation date and degree) to be shared with certification corporations.

I acknowledge by my signature that I understand although I am not required to release my records, I am giving my consent to release the information. I understand that this release remains in effect unless I revoke such consent in writing and the revocation is delivered to the institution.
