

Caroline Seltzer

333 Beech St.
Oxford, OH 45056

Phone: 216-999-3444
E-mail: seltzer@miamioh.edu

Education

M.A, Rhetoric and Composition— Miami University Spring 20XX

B.A, English Literature — University of Texas at Austin Summer 20XX
Overall GPA: 3.91 Major GPA: 3.89

Awards

Study Abroad Merit Scholarship
SGA Campus Involvement Scholarship
SGA Tutor Scholarship

Publication

“Review of Literature for ‘What Interests Students in Recreational Reading?’” Oct. 20XX
Stylus: A Journal of First Year Writing

Conference Presentation

“A Full Analysis of a Writer” Dec. 20XX
Conference on College Composition and Communication
Orlando, FL

Positions Held

Instructor Aug. 20XX – Present
English Department
Miami University

- Instruct students in critical reading and writing processes to develop their University and everyday writing skills
- Create daily lesson plans and various teaching material
- Provide students with individualized feedback on their writing

Mentor Writing Consultant Aug. 20XX – Aug. 20XX
University Writing Center
University of Texas at Austin

- Taught skills and thinking practices to advance students’ writing
- Assisted students in understanding complex assignments and rhetorical strategies for writing
- Mentored new consultants in tutoring practices

Resident Assistant May 20XX – May 20XX
Department of Housing and Residence Life
University of Texas at Austin

- Edited and composed monthly newsletter that was sent out to 400+ residents
- Assisted in crisis response and conflict resolution
- Fostered community by planning events and regular

Caroline Seltzer

Independent Studies

Directed by Dr. Sara Underwood

Fall 20XX

Department of English, University of Texas at Austin

Research and apply rhetorical theory to Early American native women's words, specifically the letters of female students who attended Moor's Charity School in the mid to late 1700s.

Directed by Dr. David O'Bryan

Summer
20XX

Department of Writing and Rhetoric, University of Texas at Austin

Studied the ways the new consultants at the University Writing Center developed skills and an understanding of practices through a semester long self-reflection and analysis.

Experience Abroad

Language and Culture in Toulouse

Summer
20XX

Toulouse, France

- Studied French at Paul Sabatier University for five weeks
- Learned about the French culture through excursions around France and interactions with French university students

Areas of Research Interest

- Transfer of writing knowledge to various genres
- First year composition students' writing
- Writing Center theory and practice
- Rhetorical theory and criticism
- Women and gender studies